Projects

Weather App <https://demetriuswingate.github.io/weather-app/>

- Engineered this app so users could pull the weather for their location or any city in the world by gathering real time weather data via an API.
- The "fetch" method used to send network requests to the server and load new information.
- HTML, CSS, Javascript, JSon

High Five Farm Website <http://highfivefarmky.com/>

- As a web developer for High Five Farm website, I was responsible for developing, testing, and launching their site. This web presence increased CSA shares by 500% by building a user-friendly interface.
- Modern design informational website.
- HTML, CSS, Javascript

Portfolio Website

<https://demetriuswingate.github.io/portfolio/>

- This website is a self-assessment site used to display my creative skills tailored to user experience.
- The skills section has count feature where you'll see the percentages rise when you reach its sections and carousel effect that allows user to scroll through each skill.
- HTML, CSS, Javascript, JQuery, Bootstrap

Leadership

As an Operations Manager for five years I have been the primary person to go to for any IT support including troubleshooting proven to be able to lead a team by being open to feedback negative or positive and using that as fuel to be more productive, I believe that trait will transfer over to tech, and I could be an asset to your team.

A team player that works well with others and will work around the clock to fill in any gaps to reach our goal in a timely manner.

I ask questions to better understand the task at hand and transparency is one of the best values that I can add.
